

10th Annual Summer School on Adaptive Optics August 9 - 14, 2009 University of California, Santa Cruz

The AO Summer School instruction is targeted toward scientists, engineers, and technicians by speakers renowned for their contributions to this interdisciplinary field. The graduate-level content includes hands-on laboratory activities.

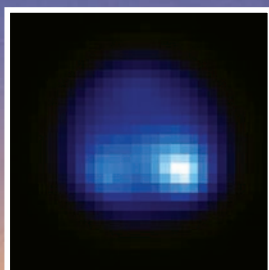

Online Application: cfao.ucolick.org

Application Deadline: June 15, 2009

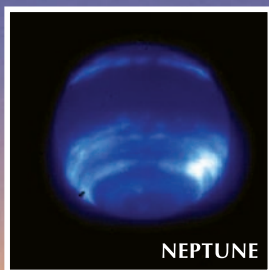

Limited Space Available. Apply Today!

Color vision receptors in the living human eye
Courtesy: A. Roorda & D.R. Williams, 1999

Without Adaptive Optics

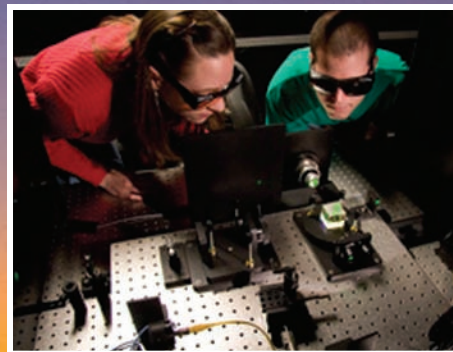

With Adaptive Optics

Courtesy: Claire Max & Bruce Macintosh

AO Demonstrator

Courtesy: Laboratory for Adaptive Optics

Graduate Students & Postdoctoral Researchers

$580 fee includes meals/double occupancy for the week. Single room: add $65.

U.S. based students are eligible for limited travel support.

All Others

$1850 fee plus $645 Single or $580 Double occupancy for the week (includes meals).

University of California faculty discounts apply. Contact CfAO for details.

Center for Adaptive Optics

University of California, Santa Cruz

Email: cfao@ucolick.org

Website: cfao.ucolick.org